

DEATH IN THE METROPOLIS.

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY THE SUNSHINE REPORTER.

Land Leaguers in Session - Mr. Michael Davitt Calling for the Abolishment of the Landlord System - Irish Independence.

[illegible]

Miss Kitty Clayton is appearing, one corner of the top curtain was blown forward by a draught of air, and she might be free from the footlights. For a few moments there was a gasp of surprise, but the curtain was blown back again, and the great presence of mind and the commendable promptness, shouted that there was no danger, and throwing on the doors did everything to facilitate the escape of the actress. The manager, who plays the trombone in the orchestra, and who is a very good musician, and a very good actor, turning upon his heels in the folds of the curtain, thus putting the audience at once behind their seats, and began to sing, "The first time I ever saw her," and then he bowed modestly and retired. He was obliged to repeat the song, and then he retired again. The first time he saw her, and the singing of the song several times before the curtain was blown forward again. The first time he saw her, and the play was finished without further mishap.

and bread for all." This perhaps chiefly is the spirit of the humane endeavors of the Rev. John W. Kien of Brooklyn to check the spread of intemperance, by the free dispensation of coffee and bread through streets most frequented by the needy and intemperate. Many from the doors of the rum shops are thus turned into the land of sober sanity. He says this is the best way to reach the poor of London, and with the assistance of the charitable New York public, he hopes to make it successful here.

Episcopal Mission Work.

The closing general missionary meeting of the series arranged to take place during the General convention of the Protestant Episcopal Bishops, took last evening in St. George's Church, Bishop Potter declared, Bishop William Hobart Hare spoke at length on his missionary labors among the Sioux Indians in Dakota Territory, and his effective work among the white settlers of the Black Hills. Bishop H. W. B. Elliott, presenting the Southwest, reported great missionary achievements in that section among white and colored people, and appealed to the congregation to aid the work of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. He referred to the wide extent of foreign and domestic missions, and hoped that the people of the Church would realize their importance and contribute liberally to their support.

A Careless Burglar Cleverly Caught.

Frederick Waineko of 138 Ely street, Brooklyn, was awakened about 3 o'clock yesterday morning by a noise in his bedroom. He saw a youthful looking stranger arching the pockets of his trousers. Pretending to be asleep, Mr. Waineko watched the burglar, who finally sat down on the side of the bed, when Mr. Waineko seized him from behind, and held him until other occupants of the house came to his assistance. A policeman was summoned, and the thief, who gave the name of John Waineko, 150 Ely street, was taken to the station house, where articles that he had stolen in another house were recovered.

One-Fifth to Mount Sinai Hospital.

Over 1,600 sick persons, received without regard to creed or color, have been treated during the year in the Mount Sinai Hospital, at Sixty-sixth street and Lexington avenue. Yesterday the Board of Directors of the Ladies' Auxiliary Society gave a reception. The amount collected on the last Saturday and Sunday was $1,000. In the giving of which the donors did not require any particular hospital, was $12,500. The principal examination by the committee, it was ascertained.

to patients gratuitously. This percentage being large in excess of that of any of the seventeen other hospitals, the committee awarded one-fifth of the gross amount to that institution.

Wilhelmina Smith's Arrest.

Among the customers in the store of Lewis Rogers & Kennedy, 271 Grand street, on Saturday evening, was a medium sized woman, clothed in black. She passed from one counter to another, as if uncertain what to purchase. Finally she leaned over a counter on which were several small packages of face powder, While she was examining one of these with her left hand, Bert Butler, an employee, saw her slip a large package furtively into an opening in her dress. In the Essex Street Police Court, yesterday morning, she said her name was Wilhelmina Smith. She was committed. The package contained forty-two yards of dress goods.

Mrs. Satina Hein was arraigned before Judge Sierlock, at East New York, on Saturday, charged with beating her husband, Frederick Hein, who is blind and deaf. Mrs. Hein, who is a large, robust German woman, was some time ago sent to the penitentiary on a complaint of her husband. The latter told the Judge that it was the fourth time that he had been beaten. Mrs. Hein said that she had been told that he was blind and deaf, but she had believed that his life was in danger. His present charge is that his wife assaulted him with a log of wood, shovel, and a water pail, and he exhibited to the Court the bruises made by these articles. Mrs. Hein was held.

The corner stone of the new Home for the aged and infirm persons under the care of the Little Sisters of the Poor, at the corner of Eighth avenue and Sixth street, South Brooklyn, was laid yesterday in the presence of a large number of guests. The society from this city and several from Brooklyn were present along with the Rev. Father O'Byrne, Dwyer, Funkett, O'Reilly, and Dr. Friel.

A Blaze from Madison Square Garden.

Early last evening a fire broke out in the Football in New York. The International Football Association have made arrangements to play many games this season at a Manhattan Polo Grounds in this city instead of in

The Trouble with his Name.

THIS MORNING'S LATEST NEWS.

On first street, was frightened by a piece of paper in car, drove to Central Park and ran away yesterday morning. The light wagon was overturned, and Mr. Snow and a friend thrown out. The friend was uninjured, but Mr. Snow was cut about the head and severely injured. He was taken home in a carriage.

A galling consumption may be avoided by the timely use of Hale's Honey of Clove and Tar. Old druggists